THE BRICKYARDS OF CALGARY.

Among the new industries of Calgary, none deserve more attention than the new one of brickmaking, which has been established by Mr.
J. F. Peel, on the other side of the Elbow, not only on account of the revolution it is effecting in the construction of buildings in Calgary, but on account also of the importance the industry itself seems destined to assume in the history of the town.

The brickyard lies on the Mission property just across the old Mission ford, and scarcely a mile from the present Post Office. Here Mr. Peel has rented fifteen acres on a five-years lease. The clay here is natural deposit of brick clay, and is the only one of the kind yet discovered in this country. There is another similar deposit on the Ottawa river, but it is the only one known in Canada, and is exceedingly valuable on that account. This clay needs no admixture of sand, and can be made into a class of hard brick which is already becoming well and favorably known to contractors and builders. Some idea of this may be derived from the fact that the first brick was supplied only three weeks ago, and since then over half a million has been turned out, as well as the kiln at present being turned out. Among the heaviest buyers have been the C.P.R. for their works at Donald, B.C., and several of the contractors at Vancouver, B.C. In Calgary it is being rapidly taken into favor and deservingly so on account of its quality, cheapness and the readiness with which buildings of brick can be constructed.

A visit to the yard was paid by a representative of the HERALD a day or two ago. The works, which cover five acres, were in full operation, presenting a busy spectacle.
The press, which has a capacity of 2,000 an hour was in full blast, feeding worked by a large gang of men and horses. The press is a Henry Martin and one of the best of its make. The clay, which is brought direct from the pits where it is found, has been tempered for 48 hours—a process not even yet established in any kiln west of Ontario—is put into the press where it is ground and pressed into its ultimate form ready to be exposed in the extensive yard which has a living capacity of over 200,000. When thoroughly sun-dried, a process which generally takes three days, the brick is piled up in the kilns and effectually burned. It is then ready for the market.
Mr. Peel employs fifteen men and ten horses in the business, and his wages average $500 per week.

The importance of this industry so near Calgary can be sufficiently estimated from these figures, and a visit to the works where the courteous proprietor is always willing to show visitors over the grounds will well repay the slight exertion. We hardly think it will be long before the Calgary Brick Yard is supplying most of the town's want of the railway with their building material.

THE MASS MEETING AT PINE CREEK.

The mass meeting of settlers on the Macleod trail, which was held in the Pine Creek hall, on Saturday night, was the most largely attended of any meeting which has yet been held for a public purpose in the country settlement. When one remembers that this is the haying season and many of the settlers had to come in several miles to attend, a sufficient indication is given of the interest taken in the coming survey of the trail, which was the subject under discussion.

Mr. Copley, in calling the meeting to order explained the object for which the meeting was held. He said the settlement, Mr. Lynders had been requested to represent the settlers in the Northwest Council to make certain representations to the Government in regard to the course which the surveyed trail was to take. They had both felt that nothing could be done in so important a matter until the settlers along the trail had unanimously agreed on the representations it was desired they should make to the Governor, and he and Dr. Lynders had accordingly called a meeting of these settlers together in order that their wishes might be made known in the proper quarter. I would ask them therefore to appoint a chairman and secretary of their own and have their views on the survey of the trail properly recorded and he would promise that their views would be laid at once before the government surveyor and the Lieutenant-Governor.

Mr. Carney was elected chairman, and Mr. J. S. Bannerman secretary.
A lively discussion ensued, the main points of the discussion being the difficulty the settlers were encountered in making their way into town on account of the numerous fences, which were being thrown across the trail, and the impossibility of taking a lead over the slough which lies between Mr. Smith's farm and Mr. David Hamilton's. A motion of Mr. Winterbottom's that the present route was bad, and in wet weather, impracticable, was carried unanimously.

One of the speakers suggested that the road should be taken up by the meeting in sections and the views of the meeting ascertained.
This was done and after a discussion in which Messrs. McGillivray, Wane-cote, Allan, Smith, S. R. J. C. Mow, A. Watson, Albert Smith, David Vander, J. S. Clarke and several others expressed their views, the meeting came to the following conclusion by resolution:

1. That the survey should commence at the bridge which is at present being constructed over the Elbow.

2. That the survey should then take the course of the governments road allowance, as nearly as possible, to the present crossing at Fish Creek.

3. That thence to Pine Creek, the course of the trail should be left to the government surveyor entirely.

On motion of Mr. Copley, the following were appointed a delegation to wait on Mr. Buzger, the government surveyor, and represent to him that these were the unanimous views of the settlers along the trail: Messrs. Geo. W. Wainwright, Allen Smith, Albert Smith, J. S. Bannerman, J. S.
Mow, A. N. Hillside, and A. Carney, with power to and to their members.
The meeting then adjourned.

MR. SHIELDS' LOSS.

A large number of gentlemen in carriage met the returning special train "Medicine Hat" yesterday, which brought with it the remains of the young son of Mr. C. Shields, Assistant Sup't. of C.P.R. The funeral to the Catholic cemetery was largely attended by the many Calgary friends of Mr. Shields who thus testified their sympathy at the loss he has suffered.

AN INDIAN SHOT.

Some of the Police, while passing the Surocco Camp, on the Mission, last night, were ordered to stop a man who was going on in one of the tents. Inspector Moody entered one of the tents, when he was attacked by a buck with a sword.
The Inspector grasped the sword and broke it; upon the Indian resolving his attack, Inspector Moody shot him through the arm. The camp then broke for the hills. Two or three white men were arrested.

IS IT A MURDER?

Some time ago Mr. S. A. Ramsey lost a hind-horn from his place, and every effort was made to ascertain who had taken it proved futile. Yesterday he received information which led him to believe that the buckboard was in the possession of a party near the Bow. Accordingly, this morning early he started in search. Mr. Ramsey found where the party had been camped and followed the wagon trail through the grass to "Chimber" Scott's shack at the Twin Bridge, and going up to the window, Mr. Ramsey noticed a light in the room. He was one to try the strength of his fingers. Chim-ber was lying down on the floor with the blood oozing from a wound in his body. Mr. Ramsey's fingers were hastened back to Calgary and were submitted to the police who were very anxious to get the buckboard. These were very little doubts that this was more at the work of the gang who held up the Edmonton stage, and it was to be expected that things were getting a little past a joke.

However, we have very little doubt that the robbers and murderers, who ever they are, will be brought to justice, as the police seem confident they know the members of the gang.
Scott was one of the original discoverers of the riches of Silver City and made quite a stake out of its celebrated mines. He sold out of the Hetherington and Queen of the Hills at a good figure. He was also one of the original owners of the Stewart Coal mine. He married a few weeks ago.

Who Lost The Union Jack?

The Queen's Flag on the Queen's Highway—Robbery of the Edmonton Stage.

Geo. K. Lenson, of the owners of the Edmonton stage, has arrived at Bow yesterday on his way to the east. It was a charming trip, and Messrs. Bannerman, Barnes & Co's accounts of the robbery of the stage on the High-way had led to K's imagination. He was just stepping on board the westward train when a telegram was handed him. The cable was starting before he could read it, a thing he never does except on state occasions, and took the next train back to Calgary.
The telegram which informed this little party was to the effect that for the second time one of Mr. Lenson's stage lines had been robbed, this time in the Edmonton trail, and the passengers "fold up."

It appears the Edmonton stage driven by Pete Campbell, and having Mr. J.
Barnes, travelling for Ashdown's; Mr. J.
G. Copley, travelling for Messrs. C. and an old Frenchman or board had arrived at the Twin Bridge, two miles this side of Bow, where the party had been taking dinner, at a quarter to one yesterday afternoon, when to a mounted man, who had been riding in the line grass, spring out ten feet in front of the stage, and covered the driver and Mr. Barnes.

One of these half-breed highwaymen was dressed in a brown cordogan, overall, black shirt, and was armed with a cavalry and a forty-five calibre revolver; the other was dressed in a light shirt, own overall and a black felt hat, and was armed only with a revolver. Both men were cut-throat jobs and were not tip of the Union Jack over the face with cavalry only for the eyes, rendering them quite unrecognizable.

On the appearance of the men the horses stopped, naturally, not being used to that sort of thing, and they remained quiet during the subsequent proceedings. The party were told to "come down," and they came. Mr. Barnes' revolver was taken from him, and the outfit was searched into a canvas and "come down" in the old-fashioned "Red Turpin" style.
Pete Campbell paid out $220, but they saw him back $2 to keep him up; the Frenchman contributed $125 to the pile, and was handed back a dollar. Mr.
Copley offered up $50 and Mr. Barnes sent $40 better. Mr. Barnes had some $20 about him in case of emergency but the currency did not occur. The robbers took the lot for $445 odd.

A return was then made to the coach where the baggage was overhauled and three suit-lugs opened. The fourth mail bag containing the registered mail was unopened. Strange to say, the passenger watches were untouched. The road agents then undid the horses and rode off.
Mr. Barnes walked back with the rest of the party toward the horses when they halted four miles away.

Commandant Hetherington was not long in sending out a squad of police who have not yet returned, but a messenger stated in the street today that a Montreal detective was being stopped at the Royal Hotel, was able to give the police all the information necessary to capture not only these two men but also their co-conspirators, and that a little police party will be sent out this evening to take these inmates of the Mounted Police, none of whose faces will be perfectly familiar to most of our citizens.

BAILED. The old indicted Peckish
